

Medical Plan Testimony

By, Pat Stockett Johnston

It just happened again. Referred to a specialist, I called her office.

“I would like to make an appointment,” I said.

“Who is your insurer?” was the receptionist’s response. Not “What is the nature of your problem?” Not “Are you in pain?”

Once again I was overwhelmed by the open door to medical care available to me because of the Missionary Medical Plan.

“The doctor is a member of my PPO plan,” I responded. Immediately an appointment date was set.

This has been my experience through my treatment for cancer this past year, which included surgery, chemotherapy, radiation, physical therapy, and quarterly follow-up visits. I am now not just cancer-free—my medical bills have been paid! All because of the Missionary Medical Plan.
